

Joan Murdock, Ph.D., MHA

Associate Professor, University of Cincinnati College of Allied Health Sciences
Program Director of Masters of Health Administration (Online)
Course Director: Principles of Leadership

Joan Murdock, Ph.D., MHA is Program Director of the Master of Health Administration degree program (online) and Associate Professor at the University of Cincinnati, College of Allied Health Sciences. Dr. Murdock has background and experience in the health care clinical setting in hospital administration and radiologic technology. She served as Vice-President and Assistant Vice-President at two Cincinnati hospitals. Her areas of study and teaching include leadership development in health care, health management and health policy. She is a founding member of the UC Latino Health Collaborative and is active in health care professional associations.