

Molly Meakin Rogers, CPA, MBA

Assistant Professor of Accounting, Carl H. Lindner College of Business Course Coordinator: Managerial Accounting and Financial Decision Making for the Pharmacist

Molly Rogers is an Assistant Professor of Accounting at the University of Cincinnati. Molly completed her undergraduate degree in accounting at the University of Cincinnati while playing Varsity tennis. Molly was awarded outstanding student academic athlete in her senior year at UC. Molly started her career at EY as an auditor. After passing her CPA she switched from audit to consulting services at EY specialized in Healthcare. During this time, she left EY to go Michigan's graduate program in business and then completed the masters at UC. Molly left EY and spent the next ten years teaching in Xavier's MHA program. During this time at Xavier University, Molly was involved in several consulting projects for healthcare including Johnson and Johnson. Molly left Xavier University to serve as a Director in Finance at St. Elizabeth Health Care and stayed for 17 years. Molly was hired at the University of Cincinnati in the Fall of 2012 and is the faculty advisor to Beta Alpha Psi, an accounting academic honorary. Molly is also the chair of the Masters of Accounting program within the department. Molly has been married 30 years with three children.